

COLOR FILTER STRUCTURE AND METHOD THEREOF

Abstract

A color filter structure of a liquid crystal display (LCD) has a plurality of color filters coupling with each other disposed on a substrate. An overlapping region is positioned between adjacent color filters, and a surface of color filter in the overlapping region is substantially in a same level as a surface of the color filters outside the overlapping region.